Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

The claims are best understood as teaching an automated analyzer that has a bar code reader for tracking the reagents, samples and other pertinent data.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless -

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

Claims 1-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by JP 5-288756 (cited by Applicants) or EP 0510686.

JP teaches an automatic analyzer with a sample identifying means 3, a reagent identifying means 10 and communication means 30 ,31 and

32. Sample identifying code 4 and reagent identifying code 11 are automatically read by the sample identifying means and the reagent identifying means, and transmitted to an external computer 29 by the communication means. The parameter related to the analysis is determined by the reagent used. Other parameters, such as the concentration calibration curve etc. of a standard sample to be used for calibration or the like are retrieved from the external computer 29 in response to the selected reagents.

EP teaches an automated analyzing apparatus that reads the data on the reagent containers and also detects liquid levels. The device is capable of informing the operator when various reagents need to be replaced. Reaction containers 15 are disposed on disk 50 which is intermittently driven by driving unit 53 such that each reaction container 15 crosses the optical path of photometer 18. The reaction containers correspond to the desired analysis. All aspects are controlled by control unit 11 through interface 61.

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Lyle A Alexander whose telephone number is 571-272-1254. The examiner can normally be reached on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Jill Warden can be reached on 571-272-1267. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 703-872-9306.
